Creating adventures out of the stories of our lives

It has been said that for an ordinary event to become an adventure, it's necessary to turn it over to a storyteller. There are many storytellers in Haliburton, people who know all about the adventurous spirit that inspires those living in a region like the Highlands. In her book, Fragments of a Dream, Leo Dobrzensky tells about the writers of the late 1800s who travelled to Dysart to meet for writers' gatherings and present their stories. More than 100 people came by canoe or whatever other transportation they had. Writers are also prevalent in the region today, congregating in numerous writing circles.

On Wednesday, July 18, members of the Reading/Writing Connection will host the sixth annual Tall Pine Tales event at the Community Room, 13523 Hwy. 118 in Haliburton. A summer buffet will start at 6 p.m. and at 7 p.m. the readings will commence. Intermission will also provide an opportunity for networking, socializing and distribution of door prizes.

Writers from Muskoka will join Haliburton writers reading from various genres and regaling the audience with tales that make us laugh, feel empathy, or touch our hearts. The master of ceremonies for the evening will be the very capable storyteller, Mike Jaycock.

Haliburton's evening will be followed by two Muskoka events this summer, where visiting Haliburton authors will also read.

For more information, call Sharon Lawrence at 705-286-6276 or Pat Bett at 705-455-9074. Tickets are $25 or come for the readings only $10. Refreshments and many door prizes included.

Monarchs and Music: a Celebration of Butterflies and Blues

ONE OF THE more interesting music happenings this summer has to be this weekend's Monarchs and Music: a Celebration of Butterflies and Blues. The event is a co-production of SIRCH, the local social services organization, and the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association, which runs the Fish Hatchery.

For the past three years SIRCH has been releasing butterflies as a fundraiser for its diverse programming, and the concept has been a success. The idea of partnering with the Fish Hatchery is a unique way for both organizations to reach more people while also having a larger volunteer base to carry out the joint event; a day-long music fest, combined with the releasing of the Monarch butterflies, which have become endangered. Proceeds will support the HHOA fish stocking program and SIRCH children's programming.

I spoke with Pat Monaghan about the music line-up. Monaghan is the DJ of the popular Buckslide Blues Cruise program on Canoe FM, which airs Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. He's also an ardent traveller to blues events, and every weekend finds him somewhere in Ontario listening to the best that the blues has to offer.

Monaghan was recruited by Rusty Rustenburg and Art Theberge of the Fish Hatchery, to book the bands for the occasion. Rustenburg is co-ordinating the event from the HHOA side of things and Theberge is the technical director, looking after sound and equipment requirements. Dianne Woodcock and Donna Gagnon are looking after the SIRCH contributions to the event.

GEORGE FARRELL
On Arts

"We've booked seven bands," Monaghan said, "and it's blues-based music; some blues-roots, Chicago style, and songs from piano player and vocalist Chuckee Zehr, who sings in the manner of Janis Joplin and Etta James."

Other acts on the bill include the James Boraski trio, who fuse roots, blues and blues-rock together; Buckthorn, which has a Mississippi swamp sound; opening act soloist and acoustic guitar player Quincy lePalm; the B&B Blues Band, which plays Chicago blues, and local group Custom Blend, who play gospel, blues, rock and country. The headliner will be Matt Allen's Swinging Black Jacks, featuring Gary Kendall of Downchild Blues Band. "Their style is straight ahead Rockabilly," Monaghan said.

There will be food vendors who will be serving hot dogs, pogos, sausages, hamburgers, fries, wood-fired pizza and soft drinks. The event will take place at the Fish Hatchery's big field where the stage will be set up for the musicians. The unique, portable stage is a 52-foot transport trailer with removable sides. "And there will be ample washroom and wash station facilities

The Monarchs and Music event is Sunday, July 15 and offers participants the opportunity to release a monarch butterfly as well as listen to music. It takes place at the fish hatchery in Haliburton. /Photo submitted ties for the public," Monaghan said.

The Monarchs and Music event takes place on Sunday, July 15, and runs from 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. with the butterfly release taking place at 3:30 p.m. There will be a limited number of butterflies for sale, and $50 will get you one Monarch butterfly to release plus two tickets for the music. For those just wishing to hear the music, they can buy tickets for just $15. Butterflies and/or tickets can be purchased in advance by calling the Fish Hatchery at 705 457-9664, by calling SIRCH at 705 457-1742, or by paying at the gate, on the day of the event. Butterflies for release can also be purchased on the day.

You can get also tickets from Pat Monaghan himself, who can be found at the farmer's market in Stanhope, on Friday the 13th, selling his doggie treats. "We're hoping to make this an annual event," Monaghan said. "Bring your coolers, lawn chairs, sun hats and sunscreen, and come on out for a day full of rockin' blues."

Parking at the Hatchery, 6712 Gelert Road, is limited, so there will be a free shuttle service from the Medical Centre, in Haliburton, starting at 10 a.m. Also free is admission for those under 16 years of age.

Monarchs and Music: a Celebration of Butterflies and Blues promises to be one of the summer's fun events, and by attending you can help endangered butterflies, help the stocking of our lakes with fish, while also helping SIRCH in their ongoing community programming. See you there.

Summer Time - and the Livin' is Easy!

KATE BUTLER

Special to County Life

As each day passes, it seems like the streets of Haliburton get busier and busier – there can be no doubt that summer's here! Tourism has long been the backbone of our community's economy. It's interesting to see how that industry has changed...and how it's stayed the same.

Can you imagine coming up to the area for a holiday on the train? For generations of "summer folk," this was their best access to the area, with roads being poor and cars more rare than they are today. When the train pulled into the village, though, there was frequently still quite a journey ahead to reach one's destination. Often it was only achieved with the help of staff from a local lodge or resort.

One of my favourite stories about our local tourism sector pertains to the Gould family. In 1903, Robert and Anne Gould realized the huge potential of their home as a draw for tourists – it fronted right onto Lake Kashagawigamog and was located in a beautiful setting. This bit of inspiration on their part evolved into the Wigamog Inn which welcomed generations of summer tourists for decades. The Gould family stayed involved in the hospitality industry for many years, even after leaving the area for a period of time. When they returned, they opened Birch Point Lodge, a place of which I have heard many people's fond memories.

This is the third year that the Haliburton Highlands Museum will be running its Lost Haliburton Boat Tours in partnership with Highland Boat Tours and every year, we hear wonderful stories about the heyday of our lodges and resorts in the 1950s and 1960s. Families would come up for the same couple of weeks each summer and the friendships that were forged would last year after year, even though there might be no contact for the other 50 weeks! The lodges provided summer employment for local teens and for many their first taste of freedom from the watchful eyes of their parents. We've heard tales of late night adventures and romances which blossomed as the music played at the Golden Slipper dancehall. Above all, when people talk about this era in our history, they talk about a sense of community and we've noticed a real sense of nostalgia for this sort of holidaying. So, the question is, why did it wane?

A growing sense of individualism and desire for privacy, as well as more disposable income, brought about a greater interest in owning cottages and the way people summered in Haliburton County started to change. At one point, there were as many as 18 lodges around the lake, but as you likely know, today, few survive. Even if the way we summer has changed a bit, we can still recapture the feeling of those days. This summer, we encourage you to spend time outdoors, make new friends and get to know your neighbours better – and perhaps invite them to join you on one of our Lost Haliburton Boat Tours!

CMHA looking for board members

Canadian Mental Health Association, Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge is seeking applications to its board of directors for the new board year, which starts Sept. 19.

The association provides mental health services, supporting clients and their families in the counties of Peterborough, Kawartha Lakes, Haliburton and Northumberland.

The board meets the third Wednesday of each month at locations around the counties served. Travel expenses are provided.

Those interested in joining the board should live within the catchment area, demonstrate an understanding of the community and its mental health needs. Regular attendance at board meetings and committee meetings is essential.

The monthly commitment is between eight and 14 hours. The association is looking for applicants with experience across a variety of areas including Aboriginal mental health services, finance, law, fund development, board governance, human resources, health care and others.

Applications should include a cover letter and resume outlining previous board and/or volunteer experience and other areas of specialization. The deadline is Aug. 3.

Send applications to: Canadian Mental Health Association Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge, Attention: Karen Wolff, Executive Administrative Assistant, 415 Water Street, Peterborough, On., K9H 3L9, kwolff@cmhahkpr.ca, fax: 705-748-4078.

Top 10 reasons to take along an extra canoe paddle

THERE IS A misconception around much of the world that, if you canoe, you only take along an extra paddle in case you lose or break one. Nothing, of course, could be further from the truth. There are many other reasons to take along an extra paddle. Here are my top 10.

1. Beaver food: Let's face it, at some point in every canoe trip – the point where you begin to hallucinate – the beavers are going to want you to pay a toll to cross their dam. They prefer canoe paddles.
2. Deer fly deterrent: If you are in the rear of the canoe there is no better way of smacking the deer fly on the back of the person at the bow's head. Trust me, if he remembers what happens, he'll thank you.
3. It's a great defence against bears. Just smack the person beside you with a paddle and start running.
4. It's better than an air guitar.
5. Insurance against being up the creek without a pad-

STEVE GALEA
Humour Columnist

- dle.
6. To enforce discipline in the boat. If you make the crew fear you, things go more smoothly.
7. Just in case you ever need to create an emergency peg leg: God forbid this happens, but I think we can all agree that at least once a canoe trip someone says, "Hey, it's time for me to try out my new hatchet." With an extra paddle, you'll be prepared.
8. To mark the number of days since you have seen civilization. No one wants to place hundreds of notches on their good canoe paddle.
9. Because two paddles provide more floatation than one. This is particularly helpful while you are in the water, looking for the PFD you aren't wearing.
10. As an investment: If someone needs to buy a paddle in the store, they'll spend about $40. If someone who just lost their paddle needs to buy one from you at the far end of a mosquito infested lake, it is more like $4,000.

Minden Hills
Bluegrass
festival

JULY : JULY : JULY : JULY

19 : 20 : 21 : 22

Welcome to our 8th annual Bluegrass Festival!!

* New Starting Time – Friday the 20th at 2 PM – ****

We have another exciting line up showcasing great Canadian talent and for our second year, an American band. We are featuring two headliners this year – Roxeen & Dalrymple from Nova Scotia, Canada and from Ohio, USA, Larry Efaw and The Bluegrass Mountaineers.

We are again having a Thursday Night Band Scramble, hosted by Roxeen & Dalrymple, from 7 to 9 pm which is also open to the public for just a donation at the gate.

The festival will be starting earlier on Friday the 20th at 2 pm and finish Saturday evening the 21st.

There will be no performances on the Sunday.

In addition to weekend camping we also offer all day and evening passes for Friday and Saturday. Stay after the shows and visit the many jams going on in the grounds or even participate and jam into the night.

On behalf of the Rotary Club of Minden and our partners; the Minden Kin, the Township of Minden Hills and the County of Haliburton, we look forward to seeing you in July!!

Shoppers asked to #BuyCloseBy

DARREN LUM

County Life Staff

Two days before the Canada Day long weekend, the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce launched the #BuyCloseBy campaign and invited guests such as Amanda Virtanen with Haliburton County's tourism department and representatives from area associations to its office in Haliburton.

#BuyCloseBy is a loyalty program that will increase the public's awareness of local shops, services and businesses; engage consumers on keeping dollars in the area; and educate them on how spending locally is beneficial for everyone.

Chamber president Richard Wannan said this campaign is a long-term approach to doing business for the good of everyone in the county. He said this effort could be an historically significant moment to look back on with pride.

"The spark is there. Let's build that fire and make #BuyCloseBy an initiative that we're proud of and something 20 years from now [we will] sit back and go, 'We were there the day it was launched and got to see the rewards it's reaped and got to see an economy that's 12 months strong and 12 months supportive,'" he said.

What this campaign will fully entail was not revealed at the announcement.

This group, which includes Haliburton County Home Builders Association and the Algonquin Gateway Business Association, is receiving funding from the Haliburton County Development Corporation through the Local Initiatives Program and support from Haliburton County and Highlands East.

The program comes from an idea that was started by Highlands East and was championed by area business owner Ann Corrigan, who worked with the Highlands Economic Development and Business Advisory Committee and then developed a marketing plan. The chamber has taken her idea and developed it further in hopes of changing the way people shop and think of local businesses.

Highlands East Councillor and advisory committee chairperson Cec Ryall said whenever anything gets done in Highlands East it is a group effort. However, there is always a champion behind these efforts and "if you want to thank anybody, thank Ann."

Corrigan is excited about #BuyCloseBy being developed further.

"The reality is we needed to focus as an entire county and we're on the team. What affects Highlands East affects all of us so we need to grow it together as a team. I'm not very comfortable with my name being attached because I want to be seen very much on the team," she said. Corrigan said it was an idea she had thought of for awhile.

"For whatever reason it just popped into my head," she said.

Ryall said the spark was the results of the Business and Retention and Expansion Survey. It included 10 recommendations/questions such as, how do we make a better opportunity for people to buy locally?

Corrigan said the idea of #BuyCloseBy was shared at a stakeholders meeting, which included representatives from around the county, including Haliburton County staff and the chamber of commerce. Now she is a board member with the chamber.

"I'm engaged now and see something really cool happening that we're growing as a community that is bigger than just our corner and this is a new attitude and it's really exciting to be part of," she said.

Wannan pointed to one key question to further the concept of #BuyCloseBy: How do we get the people in our community to realize the jewels and gems that are already here?

Ultimately, he hopes to see year-round sustainable employment and economic growth.

Reducing out-of-community and online shopping by just 10 to 15 per cent, he said, would be a significant difference to the economy.

"This isn't just a marketing strategy. Marketing is critical for people to understand, but then we need to have deliverables that will give other tools for us to work with," he said.

There will be education available, expansion of marketing possibilities for businesses, social media presence, and an examination of service delivery.

"As a community we need to share our successes and we need our community to say why they should be here," Wannan said. "We can never stop online shopping or out-of-town shopping ... but what we can do is make our community realize the value of ourselves."
